

We Help Veterans

Start careers in the PHCE industry

Trades careers are secure, hands-on, lucrative and a perfect fit for veterans!

At Troops to Trades, we are dedicated to helping military veterans find a career at a plumbing, heating and cooling or electrical (PHCE) service business. We do this by providing training grants and scholarships and through our business network.

We provide veterans with training grants, scholarships and access to over 500 quality businesses to help them find a career path in the industry. We connect residential service businesses with veterans interested in a career in the industry.

Our network of businesses in the industry are interested in helping veterans find careers in the PHCE industry.

A business that joins the Troops to Trades business network has made a commitment to be a resource for veterans looking to working the industry. They welcome veterans to learn more about their business.

The goal is to connect veterans interested in using their trade and technical skills with the business interested in hiring them.
